

I am currently making abstract paintings embedded with pictures. The pictures introduce elements--sculpture, human or animal bodies, photography, fragments of text-- foreign to the abstract arrangements. The inserted figures are physically inside the works, but stand apart from the painted compositions. They gesture and look. As in a film, relationships emerge that conjoin unlike things across a cut.